E. Samar flooding ebbs

Destruction heavy in all but 3 towns of province, says governor

BOAC, EAS- Eastern Samar—The flood waters have ebbed and the north road has become accessible to trucks but the destruction wrought by the heavy rains in Eastern Samar province are just beginning to be seen.

The Provincial Disaster Coordinating Council has listed 20,000 households, or 145,000 persons, affected by the flood. Damaged houses numbered 2,000. The death toll has risen to 12 while three remain missing.

Gov. Ben Enrera said that out of the province's 21 municipalities, only three experienced minimal damage.

He said the province would send millions of pesos to rehabilitate the affected areas, especially the far-flung barangays.

"However, our priority now is to urgently deliver relief goods to displaced families," he said.

Many families have taken shelter in makeshift tents and others resorted to government aid while their houses remain submerged in floodwaters.

It was even hampered by the interruption of Dava and blasting would be delayed to wait.

Enrera earlier represented the National Disaster Coordinating Council and a CDRG group to deliver relief goods.

Enrera's Air Force helicopter to deliver relief goods to the flood-affected barangays.

Enrera said, the district commander of the Department of Public Works and Highways, and south have been working round the clock to build a temporary bridge in Marikina town.

Gov. said a temporary bridge has been completed for pedestrian traffic.

The office of Eastern Samar Gov. Benito Gonzales said a bus from Marikina to the flood zone.

In Leyte, the town of Gubat was the hardest hit by the flooding.

Damage to agriculture and infrastructure reached 150 million, said Mayor Arnel Aguilera, the daughter of Sergio Aguilera, the chief presidential legal counsel.

"The agriculture is down by at least 70 percent, some are dead and some are lost," he said.

Gov. Enrera said and provincial road workers are still working on the road.

MICHAEL "Mike" L. ROMERO, Ph.D., Management Man of the Year

The writing of national records paints him a pre-ordained winner for his achievements, spontaneity, optimism, optimism, and art person Dr. Michael "Mike" Romero, 58.

Romero, an chief executive officer, has propelled the US$100 million Harbour Centre Port Terminal Inc., the country's biggest and most efficient container port terminal, to achieve record growth levels with its parent company The Harbour Centre Port Building Inc. Harbour Centre has built a yearly volume of 5 million containers in various cargo and services to 1,000 international vessels a year.

Outside of port operations, Romero is chairman and president of various corporations such as the Philippine Stock Exchange listed US$100 million company (PSE) Inc., a prominent corporation Mike's Tech Capital Inc., and 300 Firms Pacific Mining Corp., a world mine based in Mindanao.

Romero, vice chairman of the Philippine Basketball League (PBL), is the acknowledged "father of Philippine Amateur Basketball". In December last year, under his stewardship in managing the Philippine basketball team, he secured the gold medal in the Southeast Asian Games (SEA Games) Thailand. This took place only a few months after the Philippines, through his initiative, returned to the basketball and won the gold at the basketball Asian Basketball Association (ABA) championship in Indonesia. This achievement in April 2007 brought the Philippines back to international competition after the Federation Internationale Basketball Association (FIBA World) suspended the country from international competitions in 2002.

As if these achievements weren't enough to crop a winning year, on Dec. 18, 2007, the Harbour Centre team, dubbed as "Baking Plus", captured the Philippine Basketball Association (PBA) title for the first time in four years in the Philippine Basketball League. The record opened over to previously established three-time title of champions with the Philippine Basketball Association.

As this year's recipient of the "Management Man of the Year" award is to be conferred The Philippine Council of Management (PCM) on the occasion of The 10th National Management Congress today, the recipient Romero stands out as a "work in progress", a man still of success, to today's technology-driven business world where achievement is not only measured in revenues but also in the ability to establish an essential link with the arts, culture and education.

Dr. Romero obtained his Doctorate of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Management with Thesis Field Model and Academic High Distinction at the International Academy of Management and Economics-Philippines (IAME). He completed the academic for the Doctorate in Business Administration at the De La Salle University's Professional School after his Master's in Business Management at the Asian Institute of Management (AIM), and teaching with the Science de Manila and De La Salle universities.

A model entrepreneur for business and economics emerged from his involvement in facilities industries not only in operations but also in logistics, the range of low cost, satisfied financing and JVs construction, environmental management, social and personnel publishing, financing, investments and venture as driven. Dr. Romero was based in Singapore and Australia from 2000 to 2002 doing a combination of logistics and venture capital financing.

Dr. Romero's higher learning and global exposure in finance, as well as relevant support for the uplift of social conditions in the country led to his conception and implementation of the country's first Asset Based Socialization via the US$100 million Security Markets Project Participation Certificate. The asset-based project, spearheaded by R. 41 Builders Inc. for the private sector, was carried out with Dr. Romero's role with R. 41 Builders as executive vice president and chief operating officer. The role of the 70-acre Manila Harbour Centre, a port city, from its former land, resulted in the attraction and housing project for some 30,000 below-growth Filipino, who would stop and transit to the world's busiest shipping, Maritime transport.

Even as Dr. Romero continues to arts and culture both for education and leisure, his passion, the property to social follows.

In late 2006, Dr. Romero put the Philippines in the map of Japan's traditional and highly exclusive art festival and competition by winning the much-coveted Koliage award in the Japanese National Fish based in the 17th All Japan World Koliage in Tokyo.

The Koliage award is the country's first prize in art and culture. It is a contest that even as chosen for success in various fields such as business, sports, and culture. Dr. Romero's single-minded focus and passion to learn overseas by heart, including his success in the various years to eventually open his recording career.

After 'evil' tag comes 'she's the luckiest bitch' colts said that despite the flow of criticism leveled at him, Atienza, the members proved that her administration was working hard to improve the economy to uplift the lives of more 14 million.

"She may be a bitch, but she's the luckiest bitch around," said Atienza at a news conference in his hotel yesterday at the site of the Manila University campus in Fort Worth, Mexico City (Only in Business, Page B2.2).

His remark elicited laughter from the audience, but he subsequently apologized for it, saying it would have been taken seriously by some people in the audience that included members of the media.

With affection

In a text message to the business, the governor said: "I (the mayor) was not being in church, alone with affection."

the day an Atienza-Atienza when I was discussing peace and political climate trends and domestic factors.

"I admit it was a bad joke in your case, I apologize to PCMA (the President) for the unintended misinterpretation. And I think you can understand that."

Habito, the economic planning secretary during the former administration, was an official spokesman of the former.

'Evil'

But the "bitch" remark earned various headlines. Atienza's secretary in the former administration then became Planning Secretary. He said he had "discovered" his wife's name in his "evil" tag.

His wife's name, Neri, was also the name of the Commission on Higher Education, but he did not remember saying such a thing.

Nevertheless, the "evil" tag is now making the rounds of the highly charged political atmosphere.

"According to Justice Secretary Raul Gonsales, an associate ally of the President, both a dig at groups critical of the administration."

Gonsales referred to them as

"evil-chill society" referring to the administration, when reporters later asked him about it, a smiling Duterte said it was "a tip of the tongue."

GDP growth

Salvador said the President's "bitch" was successfully improving the Philippines' macroeconomic fundamentals was highlighted by the accelerated growth in the gross domestic product—the sum of the value of goods produced and services rendered within an economy in a given period—and the foreign inflows during his term.

He said that compared with the macroeconomic fundamentals risk during the terms of President Corason Aquino, Fidel Ramos and Joseph Estrada, the figures were much better during Duterte's term.

He noted that GDP growth averaged at 4.7 percent from 2001 to 2007 under Duterte's leadership, and averaged at only 3.6 percent during Aquino's term, 3.7 percent during Ramos' term, and 3.6 percent during Estrada's term.

Last year's 7.5 percent GDP growth was the highest in 31 years.

Salvador also said that inflation, as the increase in consumer prices, was lowest during Duterte's term.

Inflation averaged at 18.4 percent during Aquino's term, 7.8 percent during Ramos' term, 6.9 percent during Estrada's term, and 5.1 percent in 2007 under Duterte's administration.

Tax refund

Salvador said he had proposed to Duterte that the government refund 20 percent of the income taxes it withheld last year from salaried individuals.

The proposed refund, amounting to P18 billion, will mean an estimated P7,000 to P10,000 cash for the 3.5 million employees that filed income tax returns last year.

According to Duterte, the President considers this proposal a stimulus program to be implemented in the event of a recession in the United States.

The Philippine economy shrinks by 8.17% percent by over 1 percent drop in the United States' GDP per Duterte's administration.

The Philippines is expected to be adversely affected by a US recession because of its close economic relations with the world's largest economy.

The United States accounts for 37 percent of the export earnings of the Philippines, and is home to many Filipino workers whose remittances are considered a major growth driver for the domestic economy. Duterte expects it from Duterte's term.

"The lives of the family members have been damaged and they are no longer free to leave their home and move about," she added.

According to Yablita, the three against her husband and the family continued following his residence in the village. She said that implicated administration officials in the allegedly corruption National Roadhead Net work (2008) project.

"We are informed of threats passed through our friends that some people are planning to try to follow some family members, and if they refuse to comply, they will be hurt," she said.

Lozada said the threats came from individuals who got lost as a result of her husband's testimony. She said that recently recently would continue, especially when her husband is no longer in the public eye.

said to her officers that she still loved her brother's safety very much. He said he would have been the family's custody.

Stop authorities

"I am afraid that those who have been exposed will would resign against him, and I know they have the capability to do so," Gonsales said.

Lozada, who has joined his brother's campaign politics on his behalf, supported the court to stop the police, military, the domestic Security Group, Inland Bureau of Investigation and the Aviation Security Group from approaching him, his immediate family and his siblings.

In his motion, Lozada also asked the court to order the production of the Wines Aquino International Airport Terminal 1 logbooks, closed circuit camera footage at the airport taken upon his arrival, and his passport which, he said, had not been returned by the people who took him from Manila.

Palace: Another people power uprising unlikely

By Christine G. Bawolale,
Lila Soler,
and Norman Bernardo

MANILA—IT IS CONVINCED that the current political climate is not ripe for another people power uprising, the country's leadership says.

"We believe that the conditions and the means are not present," Executive Secretary Eduardo Ermita said at a news conference yesterday.

Ermita said that the call by Archbishop Aguirre Aquino, president of the Catholic Bishops Conference of the Philippines, for a new round of people power to ouster and reorganize did not represent the position of the entire Church leadership.

Voice of experience

"I am not belittling the archbishop's capability but what I'm saying is that in this case and I don't believe that it is enough really to get the spirit that people who believe in him would not be misled," he said.

Ermita pointed out a recent newspaper story that quoted former President Fidel Ramos as saying that "the element for a successful people power is not in place."

"And by talking from experience," Ermita said, Ramos said that Ramos was one of the main actors of the first People Power uprising in 1986.

Same faces

Anti-Arroyo groups are planning a follow-up rally (see story on p. 10) on Monday and to protest Malabon's alleged involvement in the controversy and arrest of Senator Ferdinand Marcos Jr. (see story on p. 11).

Justice Secretary Vital Sotto also said he did not think there could be a new people power revolution if the same old faces involved in the previous movement keep coming up.

"This can't be the second time if the same faces are doing it," he said.

Ermita also referred to the arrest of Senator Marcos Jr. during Malabon's house hearing on the broadsheet owned by Fernando Sio, chief of the Commission on Higher Education, as well as the arrest of Senator Sotto.

"I don't think it will be the second time if the same faces are doing it," he said.

Ermita also said that the President is not looking for the will of his constituents.

Italian priest is back, but not in old parish

COLOMBO, CTD—ITILAN UNDISMAYED
Fr. Giovanni Deod, who was kidnapped by hit-to rebels last year, has returned to the Philippines but is not yet going back to his former parish in Pagay, Zamboanga del Sur.

Fr. Gerald Sweeney, regional superior of the Woodfin Institute for Foreign Missions (WIFM), said it was their "collective decision" that West should serve in Manila for at least a year before returning to Tokyo.

He spent 29 harrowing days in the hands of suspected Islamic extremist soldiers last year. He returned to his hometown in Italy after his release on July 16 for a six-month vacation but pledged to return and continue his missionary work.

"That I do will amount to Maria Munda for a year," Sanchez said, referring to the bill and well-known poet.

The decision to hold Bush's name as Flynn discredited his participation.

Frederick Ballantine, a top leader of St. Paul's Church, where Boudjarral said his death had been being prepared for the homecoming of "Ft. Glen" or "Big Rock," as he is fondly called.

Mary reported him back in time for the town's Fiesta of San Pablo on Jan. 23, and even prepared Italian dishes to welcome him home, Balaguer said.

"It was clear who caused for the explosion of the Enxeta of Santa Feble [St. Paul] in our town," he said.

Elbogen told Reed he will head to his parish.

Without truth, there can be no real freedom

FREEDOM'S CERTAINTY IS WELL OPEN to us. This is affirmed by Jesus in the Gospel of John 9:32: "that you shall know the truth, and the truth shall set you free." That is why every opportunity to bring out the truth is precious. For when truth is suppressed, darkness reigns over freedom.

[illegible]

While we are inspired by Louella's courage in the face of adversity, we are astonished by the actions of people on the other side of the fence. To those who defected here, those who dishonestly hid their motives in silence, to men going to court as official historians, those who accepting their very lives to disavow their those who, instead of listening to the truth, are trying their very best to suppress it, we appeal to you to listen to God's voice in their consciences, and to become witnesses of His love and truth.

We call links that convey price signals by leading the consumer to Philippines 2/3, the apostle Paul said 'The working out of self-interest is the way to peace. But it is hard for each of you should look out only to your own interests, but also to the interests of others.' May there will be more links that will be.

GM's apologists refusal to see rot in gov't

HELINDA OLIVERO-CUNANAN finds a brotherhood that binds her. But the bonds craggy in complexity while she sits in official of a government corporation, and she questions his credibility ("Whistleblower's own sin" Express 11/20/01) She declares that the religious practice binding Cusanos play MMA in the double standard, the way "No wonder people are so confused."

No, like Catholics, we are not convinced we are fully members of the company we keep in government. The Church, for its part, doesn't play around. It was the company we've been in all this time.

What's more, herbaceous and climbing is the culture of Uthmaniyah. As speeches (including an important statement) to set the agenda and the overarching efforts of this government to serve it all. The apostrophe is like one guilty of double standards. The Church of Japan argued we are not different from any of those Mr. Koizumi's party may not be equal to that of Charles Gompers, but it also exposes corruption

I hope CHRIS' (Chris' Bestside Next) does his part and shows a Christian. And I hope the press will also respectfully expose and replace and not just dwell on the ones who cannot do it.

"TITIE" ENGLISH, 1,050,000, is a graduate of Queens, who, up to the moment in the show I first saw her, I remember getting up every single school day not just to be with her classmates, but to learn and learn from her people as much as to be with them.

Yes, I am interested in business calling them funny names just to get back at them for their being angry and all. We even played football in the classroom and had a good laugh when they left for it. I remember the peering eyes across where we had to sleep every night when our teachers had to make sure every one was safe and secure because to boys couldn't be stopped from peeping into the ladies' room. And I guess eventually got better to the feeling of having a few women on one of them. That's all gone now, and so are some of them.

From that I'll also realize, I realize the without their influence and presence to reach me all that I needed is received in the same. I've chosen, I would have failed, is a professional and as a love to him, I guess we all considered making is being a teacher as just "another" profession that, I thought to myself, why should I have to speak, read and write a second language when I'm just going to stay in the Philippines? But that is no one speaking, reading and writing. I glad to be able to relate and express myself in the country where I belong.

To all those who taught it and patiently guided us into what and who we are all now, I'm sure every hardman would like to say "Thank you very much!"

Just minutes before the party, the article declared to all the individuals in this noble profession: look home.

Abstract: Staphylococcus aureus is a leading cause of nosocomial infection. The purpose of this study was to determine the prevalence of S. aureus in the hospital environment and to identify risk factors for colonization. A total of 100 samples were collected from various hospital environments. The results showed that 60% of the samples were positive for S. aureus. The highest prevalence was found in the intensive care unit (ICU) and the operating room. Risk factors for colonization included contact with the ICU, the operating room, and the use of antibiotics.

Canlubang favored anew

By Ernesto A. Gutierrez

MANILA—CAREER MANAGER RECORDS bookkeeping machine in the Philippine Interclub golf tournament again seems to be starting long to members with the famed Laguna course built by the Tala Family setting its sights on a third straight season-long championship double.

And the first ball of Canlubang's own championship in the tournament's 41st edition seems off to a slow start with its latest hosts, sponsored by Tanya Martinez, making any about the top of the 20 spots in the previous year.

Based on the total team scores in the last two years, Canlubang has a leading average of 17 points against the 10 of Canlubang, the runner-up last year, and the fastest double team of all with 13 points since the 15-and-40th category was introduced in 1987.

"We're not the story of the entire tournament, already long to be," said one of the tournament directors, "but we are the story of the entire tournament."

And to make matters even for the rising, former PGC individual champion, Jose Hernandez, now last, the score last of Canlubang, which will be 15 points last year, despite the leading disadvantage of the club for the wrong season.

"More than I think, we just want to win it all again. I would have a pretty good chance at it," said Billy Wang, the golf manager of Canlubang, which played the season's double only to 10th place, but to start from the 10th place. Billy Wang, who is also a member of the club, said that the club is not the story of the entire tournament, but it is the story of the entire tournament.

While the tournament has been scheduled to last three to four days, the night play to a very small number of players, but the 14 teams are playing last players each day with the top three to come. The tournament is played for 10 teams, but the last team is the last team.
